They fall in love, but she is infatuated with her husband, who leaves her. After her husband's death, she returns to Devdas, and their love blossoms. Devdas, who now owns a printing press, decides to marry the girl. As the film progresses, Devdas and Sujata realize that they don't belong together as a couple, and their lives fall apart. Pritish Nandy wrote about the film: "Devdas is the story of a madcap romantic, and at the heart of the story is the search for identity. In the course of the narrative we discover the strengths of Sujata's character (as well as a few weaknesses), while her madness comes through in her inability to understand what the actor is saying to her. The music of the film is an absorbing element, as are the colorful sets and costumes." Nandy highlighted the dialogues, "It is in the dialogue that the strength of the actors come out – Devdas is played to perfection by Dilip Kumar, though the film turns out to be very much a Kumar show. The other two roles, played by Naseeruddin and Teena, are played with good ness, but in the role of Sujata they are one-dimensional. They lack the spark which could have made her the strong character that she was in the novel." Other reviews gave the film a mixed reception. Vidya Subrahmaniam wrote about the film: "It is rather complex story and it is perhaps the first time a film has used the novel as a springboard. For a change, it is a good production. There is a nice plot and good acting by the entire cast.... Devdas is an original, even a daring film. It's a good historical in which Devdas plays a major role. Soundtrack The music of the film was composed by Khayyam. The song "Tui Chal Gaye Chitaa Deewana Hai, Tu Mera Jaan To Jaan" was based on "Gali Gali" from the 1981 Bollywood film, Deewane Huye Log. The song "Khaak Thi" was based on "Zindagi Jo Qayamat Banaade" from the 1960 film, Uphaar. Box Office The film was a commercial success. It ran for more than 100 days in theatres 82157476af
