PMDG 777-300200 is a long range, medium GA aircraft which is intended for medium-long range work. It is similar to the 737-800 in many respects, though the fuselage is shorter, has fewer windows and is around a half-scale size smaller. The PMDG 777-300200 is a favorite for training, production of virtual models and other small-scale hobbyist projects. It's also a very good way to get acquainted with airframe assembly and other modeling techniques. The beautiful and realistic "high-gloss" paint job makes this a real show piece. In the spirit of Airmasters, we will continue to provide upgrades and make other customizations to this beautiful aircraft. Whether you are new to modeling or have a long-term project, PMDG 777-300200 will provide you with a great learning experience. This is a full-scale, digital, 3D aircraft. This aircraft is fully built and ready to go. A 3-D model with detailed and accurate textures and materials are provided. This model can be applied to your own design or you can download and customize the model to fit your needs.
